

Sort of...Kind of...but Not Really....

The Odilo Millennium News

for the students, by the students since 1999

Issue 3, Volume 8

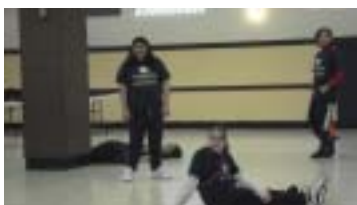

April Something, 2007

APRIL FOOL'S ISSUE

Enough is Enough -Yoga Too Dangerous

Injured 8th Graders Arthur Villagomez and Mary Harris

8th Graders Maria, Tori and Cristina take a rest.

4th Grader Jeremy Claudio forced to do more Yoga.

Gerardi signs Contract -Pre-K Outraged

Last Friday, former seventh grade teacher Mr. Gerardi, shook hands with Mr. Donegan after signing a 2007-08 contract to be a Kindergarten Aide.

Pre-K Kids reaction after hearing the news.

Girl Goes Goth

by Leah Banda, 7th

On Sunday, Alyssa, student at Saint Odilo School, was seen completely gothic. Witnesses at the Saint Odilo Soccer game, said Alyssa spray painted her soccer uniform and hair black, and was wearing smudged eyeliner and mascara. Her friends would try talking to her, but she would just give them dirty looks. People don't know why she turned gothic, they have even tried to talk her into being normal again, but she refused. "Goth life is more dark," said Alyssa.

Gates Buys Odilo

by Arthur Villagomez, 8th

Just last week, software tycoon and billionaire, Bill Gates, bought St. Odilo School and Parish. He paid a mere two million dollars for all the land. Gates plans on paying the teachers three times their salary. He also plans on giving the school laptops for their education.

Billionaire Bill Gates

Renovations will include new chairs, desks, lockers, and bathrooms with automatic sinks and wireless Internet.

Inflatable Boy

by Adriana Villagomez, 7th

BERWYN: On Friday at 2:00am

a miracle happened. A witness states, "I was walking down the street with my laundry bag. I had just come back from the laundromat when I saw it happen. I saw a boy walking in the middle of the street. It looked as if he was sleep walking." The witness said seconds later a big truck came flying around the corner. "He was literally run-over," the witness exclaimed. "And then he immediately inflated back to normal like a balloon." The truck driver called the police but later found out that the boy had been dead for more than 30 years.

Wannabe Singer Gets Booed

by Arnold Martinez, 7th

A terrible performance by Seventh grader Carlos resulted in injury Tuesday after being booed off the St. Odilo stage. Some witnesses say they never heard such horrible singing in their life. Witness are suing for temporary damage to their ears. Carlos in his defense said that his singing is amazing. Classmates say that Carlos always sings in class but it sounds more like shouting .

Girl Enters Eating Contest; Millions Starve

by Alyssa Hudik, 7th

Last week, Jewel Osco sponsored their 1st Annual Stuff Your Face eating contest at Millennium Park. People all over the nation were invited to watch and participate in this contest. One of those people was Rosario, a 7th grader at St. Odilo School. The other competitors were all-time food eating champions. Spectators were surprised when Rosario gulped down plates of food within seconds. Officials of the event had to go to multiple stores for more food. According to John Jerry of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, "Most of the Midwest's food supply had decreased by 900 thousand tons due to Rosario's food intake." "The Midwest will be suffering a great loss of food and restaurants will be closing."

Ernst Turns 8th Grade Into Republican Zombies

by Nicholas Alcala, 8th

According to local sources Mr. Ernst protested that his class was filled with too many liberal hippies. Eighth graders lashed out at Mr. Ernst during one of his Constitution classes because they did not agree with a lot of the amendments and said that Congress was an unfair madhouse. Shocked by this Mr. Ernst had his class take tests to see if they were democratic or republican. Witnesses say that the tests were filled with thousands of subliminal messages. As a result, the class reformed and all became Republicans. Eighth graders have been seen in suits and ties with their hair combed over to the side. Mr. Ernst said he had to do what he did because he just dislikes hippies.

Two Dozen Frozen Chimpanzees Please

by Alexa Palos, 8th

Last Tuesday an order for 2 dozen chimpanzees for the 8th grade class to dissect led to a third floor strike. Other grades have complained wanting to know why their classes could not participate in this dissection as well. Mrs. Fiala in her defense exclaimed, "This year's 8th grade is my favorite and I wanted them to have something to remember me by." An anonymous sixth grader said, "Mrs. Fiala shouldn't have favorites. We should all get Chimps!"

After a 5 hour strike 8th grade teacher Mr. Ernst joined the strike stating, "I had no other classes, so I got bored." As a final result, Principal Mr. Donegan decided not to let Mrs. Fiala's class dissect the chimpanzees.

Water Fountains Go Fruit Punch!

by Carla Celio, 8th

The water fountains at St. Odilo are now pouring out Fruit Punch. There was a scientific study that said giving kids Fruit Punch throughout the day will enhance their performance in school. The Fruit Punch is said to loosen the brain & let cells regulate as they should. Every child is supposed to have at least 5 oz. of it daily. The color of the the Fruit Punch is also good for the skin. St. Odilo has joined schools nationwide. The program is called •gFruitPunch Nation. •h. Hinkley Springs is also supplying their customers with Fruit Punch in 5 different flavors.

Silly Grudge?

by Tim Raub, 8th

With the recent assassination attempt on Dick Cheney there have been some serious investigations as to who was behind the attack. When looking at the site of the attempted assassination there appeared to be a red rubber nose. This lead investigators to question Cheney. He replied, "I haven't seen one of these since my school days at Goofy McGee's School for Clowns." This information proved to be a very promising lead. Further questioning of the Vice President revealed a grudge another student had on him. Investigators are now looking for this man who goes by "Silly McGee". He is apparently using the surname of his old school. People are calling this the "Silly Grudge", for the perpetrators name and the fact that this is completely ridiculous. Apparently this man has a grudge because Cheney made a fool of him back at school. He said Silly was not funny unless he used laughing gas. This lead to Silly's expulsion from the school. He leaves the same kind of fake nose at every scene. Investigators currently have no clues as to where his hide out is. There have been no new leads about his whereabouts.

Kaiser Says No To Goofiness!

By Rosemary Benjamin, 7th

Friday morning seventh grader Michael Kaiser was not acting himself. According to Kaiser it was a shortage of food. Kaiser claims seventh grade teacher, Mrs. Fiala, won't let him eat in class anymore. According to Mrs. Fiala this problem has nothing to do with her. Mrs. Fiala says that Kaiser is just trying to be less goofy. Fiala believes that Kaiser may not be eating enough at home. Fiala also believes that "not being goofy" is what Kaiser has given up for Lent.

7th Grader Coo-Coo for Cocoa Puffs

by Jamieson J. Carreon, 7th

After years of testing, a seventh grader has confirmed that Cocoa Puffs can cause twitching. This particular student has been eating Cocoa Puffs since the 3rd grade. Vanessa is now troubled with a terrible twitching problem. Whenever she talks she twitches her head rapidly to the right. After a year of testing no one knew what was troubling this poor child. Just recently the doctors at Rush Hospital thought it was stress but after a week of intense testing they have figured it out! Cocoa Puffs are the reason for this little girl's suffering. Now her parents are suing the cereal company for permanent damage to their daughter. The court session will be held on April 24.

Five Feet of Fury on the Loose

by Tori Gora, 8th

Has anyone seen a difference in Mrs. Fiala lately? Well, what I heard was that she drank this really weird drink at lunch and all of a sudden she is taller than tall. She used to be the 5 feet of fury and now she is 6'11 and louder than loud. When she walks through the hallways she knocks down all the kids to the floor. You better watch out for her now! Everyone thought that she was a tough little thing, but now she is worse! Don't get her mad because she will step on you with her big size 20 shoe! One day I saw her arguing with Mr. Ernst and she pounded him to the floor like the big Jolly Green Giant! You never know what she will do next!

Girard says Super-Size Me

by Martha Trevino, 7th

Ms. Girard will be appearing in the new movie "Super-size Me Too". Students claim Ms. Girard had been trying to make students aware of how bad junk food is for the body. She said that she is nervous but happy because she could eat whatever she wants from McDonald's but fears she will get fat and sick resulting in high blood pressure. Ms. Girard also fears that bad food can be addicting to any one who eats it everyday.

Back in Style

by Samantha Beltran, 8th

What we all thought of fish nets, tie dyed shirts, turquoise dresses, flannel shirts, jeans with black socks, old ripped jeans, etc. are all coming back in style like never before. People that I thought would never wear clothing like this such as Paris Hilton, are all wearing these clothes. So ladies get your husband's credit cards, girls grab dad's hand and tell him you're going shopping because this is back in style and you need it all. For those of you who said that these fashions would never come back in style, well guess what, it has and it's staying! It's the style and you wanna be a part of it so buy everything that you thought wasn't in style.

What is Word?

by Victor Perez, 7th

The word 'word' actually means volcanic destruction whenever somebody says, "Look at that word!" Some people protested saying, "That makes no sense that 'word' should mean 'volcanic destruction'!" People are complaining to dictionary writers that the definition should stick to what it actually means. "This is outrageous everyone should know that 'word' means 'volcanic destruction'!", said another protester. The Pentagon doesn't know what to do. Dictionary writers think that they should have the old definition and the new one they discovered it actually means.

U.S. BANS HILTON

by Vincent Cerda, 7th

Recently it was released to the news that Paris Hilton was banned from the United States of America. Many people that were interviewed said "Thank the Lord, that monstrosity is gone!" When she herself was interviewed she said "That's hot." She was banned when the Supreme Court decided that she was a disgrace to everyone here in America and that with her here many other countries are thinking of going to war against us. With her leaving this country most of the countries that disliked us will be very friendly again. Her pet chihuahua is being auctioned off on the popular website www.ebay.com and lots of her things are being sold there as well. Her signature phrase "That's hot" is not under copyright anymore and can be used by other people around America. A special mass will be held everywhere sometime in June to celebrate her leaving and thanking God for this great deed.